

Shooting Stars Tips for: Theatre Performance Auditions

1) BE PROFESSIONAL

- Keep up-to-date with your calendar.
- Prepare and submit all materials on time.
- Plan and prepare repertoire with your nominating teacher and/or private instructor
- Use this opportunity to help you prepare for college auditions if you are planning on majoring in theatre and/or music.

2) LOOK PROFESSIONAL

- Dress for the occasion. Remember: you want the judges to think about you, not about your clothes.
 - plan audition clothing well in advance.
 - practice in your clothing, especially shoes for gals and coat and shoes for guys.
 - make sure all clothing fits well and is cleaned and pressed! You want to be comfortable yet professional. Don't wear revealing clothes or shoes, which definitely means no flip flops!
 - coordinate accessories: jewelry, shoes, neckties, etc.
- Options to consider: suit or coat, necktie or not, please, no t-shirts. Also consider either a dress or pants and a nice blouse, height of heels, length of skirt, hair style (it's important that your hair is out of your eyes!).

3) ACT PROFESSIONAL

- When you introduce yourself, also introduce the selections you will perform and the playwrights and/or composers.
- Show confidence and enthusiasm, but not arrogance.
- Present yourself professionally. Judges not only consider your technical ability (singing/performing all the notes/words), but also your musicianship (how you sing/perform, and how you sing/perform with your accompanist).
- If you make a mistake, don't show it! Keep singing/performing. Judges aren't necessarily looking for perfection as much as they are looking for potential.

4) SOUND PROFESSIONAL

- Maintain a regular daily practice schedule.
- Your choice of material should:
 - be age appropriate
 - be material that moves you; shows your heart and strengths
 - show your flexibility and range, i.e. contrasting pieces by two different composers
 - be from a published, reputable play/musical
 - monologues must be from a play; be sure to read the entire play so you understand the monologue and its context within the play
 - with a monologue, you are performing a character but be sure to show your intelligence and emotion
 - meet all criteria of the Shooting Stars Scholarship Guidelines
- Study monologue and/or scores with care; strive for no rhythm, note or word mistakes.
- Work to infuse the music and words with feeling and purpose. Communicate and tell the story.
- Practice in front of a mirror.
- Practice with your accompanist (if using one). Arrange for accompanist now to make sure they are available for the day of the audition.
- Arrange for a practice audition - at home, at school, etc. - with your nominating teacher, private instructor and/or parents available to provide feedback/critique.
